

National and Regional IGF Initiatives (NRIs)

Status update as an input to the Second IGF 2017 Open Consultations and MAG Meeting

IGF Secretariat, NRIs Focal Point, June 2017

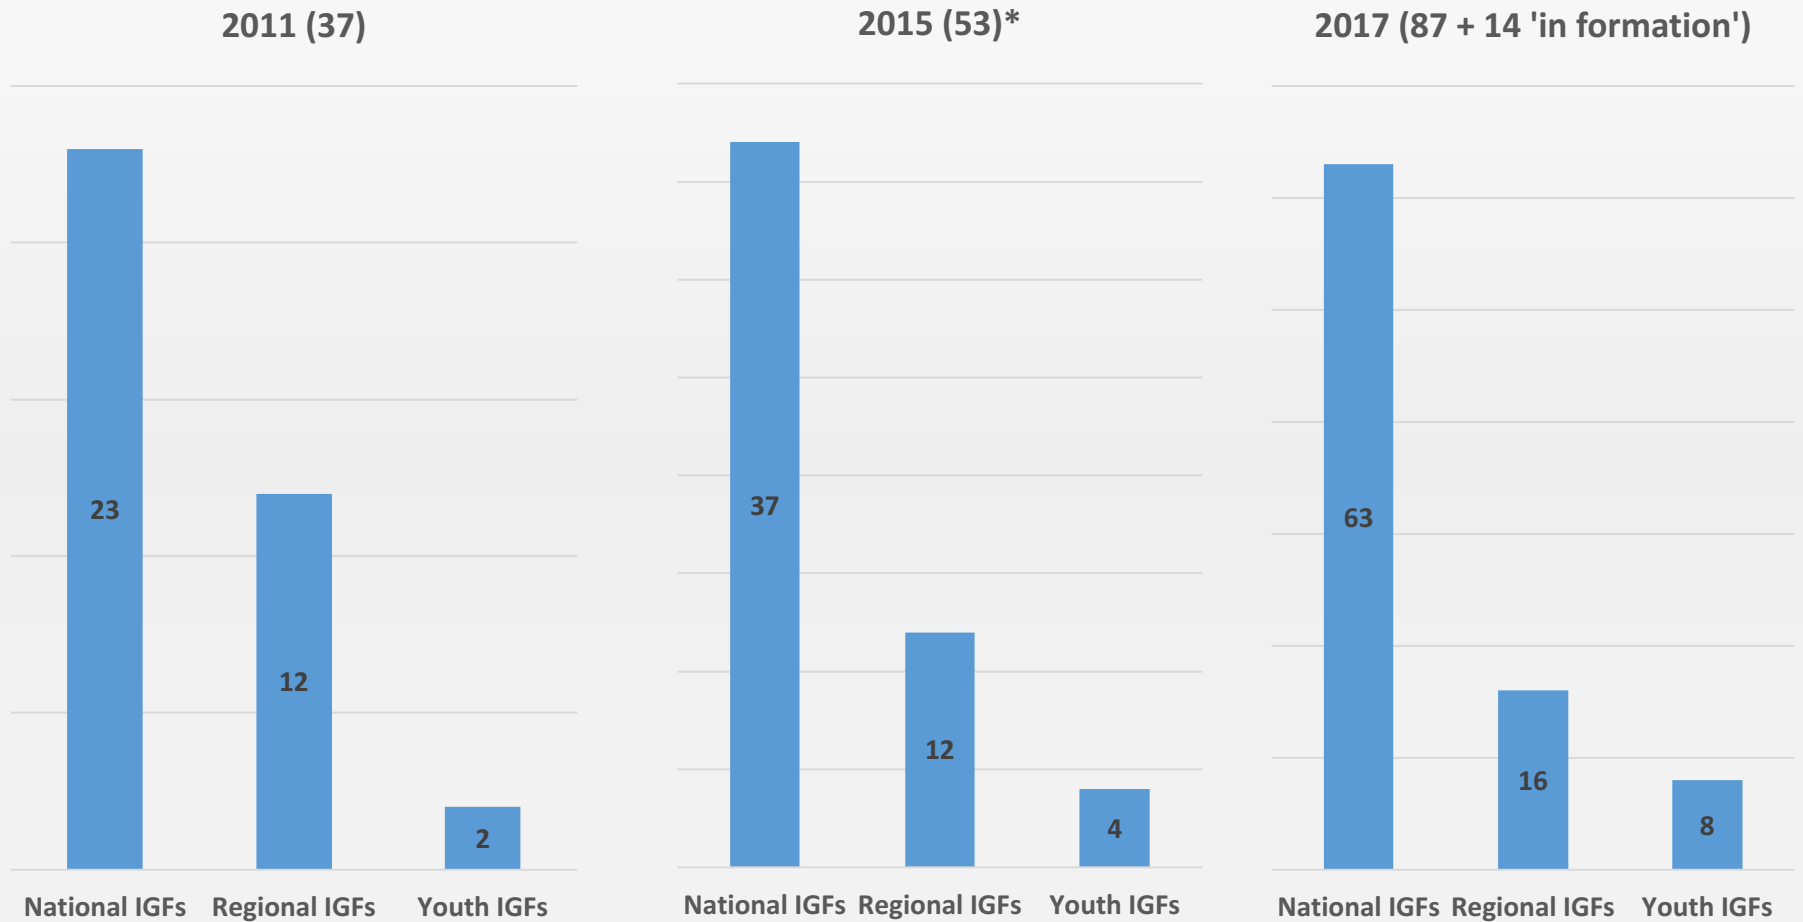

Origin and Background

- The Tunis Agenda established the Internet Governance Forum (Para. 72)
- No specific call for national or regional IGFs
- Recognized that multistakeholder approach is a fundamental principle
- Encouraged development of multistakeholder processes at national, regional and international level to discuss and collaborate ... (Para. 80)
- Starting from 2006, many national and regional initiatives began to formalize

Work Principles

- NRIs agree to follow the core principles and characteristics of the IGF itself, in order to be formally recognized as IGF initiatives.
- Core characteristics and principles:
 - Organic
 - Autonomous and Independent
 - Stakeholders act on equal footing (just as at the IGF itself)
 - Bottom up
 - Multistakeholder
 - Open and Transparent
 - Inclusive
 - Non commercial
- There is no hierarchy between the IGFs at any level.

*On a request of some of the national IGF initiatives, the IGF Secretariat conducted the retroactive recognition, based on submitted records. Therefore, the records for the 2011-2015 years are being updated. This caused that over the 2016-2017 period, the presented records on the total number of the NRIs changed. For example, the total number of recognized NRIs for the 2015 term has changed from 37 to 53, at present time.

IGF 2017: Total number of recognized and 'in-information' NRIs is 101

'In-information' NRIs are in a stage of their internal organization, and are actively engaging with the IGF Secretariat.

Geographic Coverage – 2017 Global View

 This Map is constantly being updated as new Initiatives are emerging.

What do the NRIs do?

- The multistakeholder organizing teams ask their community what Internet Governance issues are of their concern
- Develop the programme agenda based on received inputs
- Engage the community into the organization of the programme sessions
- Organize the annual meeting with respecting the IGF principles
- In between the meetings, there are NRIs that have developed the intersessional work (Paraguay IGF: webinars for University students; SEEDIG: Monthly briefings on IG issues in region and regional remote hub; Japan IGF: monthly meetings on IG issues of interest etc.)

How does all this look like in practice?

What do the NRIs do?

- The multistakeholder organizing teams identify issues of interest;
- Develop the programme based on received inputs;
- Engage the community to implement the programme;
- Organize annual meetings;
- In between the meetings, there are NRIs that have developed the intersessional work (e.g. Portugal IGF: organizing multiple sessions across country; Paraguay IGF: webinars for University students; SEEDIG: Monthly briefings on IG issues in region and regional remote hub; Japan IGF: monthly meetings on IG issues of interest etc.)

- Direct contributors to the IGF intersessional work by participating in the virtual and onsite meetings, and feeding into the discussion.

NRIs activities during the IGF 2016

- NRIs Main Session on: access, secure Internet, funding sources, creating more awareness about IG and purpose of the stakeholder engagement;
- NRIs Coordination Meeting between the global IGF, NRIs and the wider community
- NRIs Booth at the IGF Village

IGF 2016: NRIs Toolkit to assist communities in establishing the IGF initiatives

- As called for in the IGF2015 Substantive Session of the NRIs, the IGF Secretariat in collaboration with the NRIs Working Group and the NRIs developed a basic “Toolkit” publication to support new NRI Initiatives and strengthen the engagement of existing NRIs.
- The Toolkit provides some broad background information and outlines the basic requirements for an IGF initiative to be listed on the IGF website.
- It has been translated to five official UN languages (Arabic, Chinese, English, Russian and Spanish) by the volunteers among the NRIs network.

NRIs Plans for the IGF 2017

➤ NRIs Main Session

Through a bottom up process, the NRIs have identified the main area of interest for this session to be:
Rights in the digital/online world.

➤ NRIs Collaborative Sessions

In order to bring specific, substantive inputs to the global IGF, the NRIs are willing to collaborate among themselves and organize sessions at the IGF 2017 meeting

Some of the specified areas of interest are:

- Cybersecurity
- Access
- Data
- Human Rights and Digital Rights

- New emerging technologies
- New emerging IG issues
- Internet Governance
- Internet and Sustainable Development

➤ Continuing the Substantive, Coordination Session between the NRIs, the global IGF and the wider IGF community to review work that has been done so far and plan the new cycle

➤ Development of improved approach to a shared booth and professional materials to support the booth

➤ Continuation of the informal gatherings of the NRIs during any event that allows it

Contributing to the NRIs

- Engaging with the NRIs is based on inclusion and engagement at the national, sub-regional and regional levels.
- All NRIs are encouraged to maintain an open door to their outreach and engagement with their relevant stakeholders. All are required to maintain a point of contact and a working email to which local inquiries can be sent.
- The annual required reports are also excellent resources to learn more about any particular NRIs activities.
- In addition, the IGF Secretariat maintains a dedicated email list for those who want to support the work of the NRIs or attend their working calls. Meeting reports are provided for all of the working calls and available in the NRIs archive – thus open to the interested public.
- For any NRIs related questions, contact the IGF Secretariat at: igf@unog.ch where a dedicated Focal Point to the NRIs will assist further.
